Chapter 1: The Pace Cars

The Corvette has a long and storied history as a pace car for the Indianapolis 500. From the first Corvette to pace the race in 1978 to the latest Z06 to lead the field in 2019, Corvettes have been a staple of the Indy 500 for over 40 years.

This chapter takes a look at all of the Corvette pace cars, from the early C3s to the modern-day C7s. You'll learn about the unique features of each pace car, as well as the stories behind their selection.

Chapter 2: The L88s

The L88 is one of the most legendary Corvettes ever produced. With its all-aluminum big-block engine, the L88 was a true beast on the track. Only 2,166 L88s were ever produced, making them one of the most collectible Corvettes on the market.

This chapter takes a deep dive into the L88, from its development to its racing history. You'll learn about the different variations of the L88, as well as the unique features that make it so special.

Chapter 3: The Lingenfelters

Lingenfelter Performance Engineering is one of the leading тюнинг-ателье for Corvettes. Lingenfelter has been producing high-performance Corvettes for over 30 years, and their cars are known for their incredible power and performance.

This chapter takes a look at some of the most iconic Lingenfelter Corvettes, from the early C4s to the modern-day C7s. You'll learn about the different modifications that Lingenfelter offers, as well as the performance results that their cars have achieved.

Chapter 4: The Z06s

The Z06 is the ultimate performance Corvette. With its track-tuned suspension, powerful engine, and aerodynamic body, the Z06 is a true force to be reckoned with. This chapter takes a look at the evolution of the Z06, from the early C5s to the modern-day C8s.

You'll learn about the different features that make the Z06 so special, as well as the performance results that it has achieved. Whether you're a fan of the early C5 Z06 or the latest C8 Z06, this chapter has something for you.
